Inspiring Families. Inspiring Hope.

The Tenth Annual Jewish Family & Children's Service Hanukkah Hugs toy drive will start in November as families prepare for the first night of Hanukkah on December 15, 2006. Shaare Zedek is joining other congregations, schools and community organizations to help with this heartwarming project.

The Hanukkah Hugs toy drive collects gifts for Jewish children whose families would not be able to provide Hanukkah presents. The Harvey Kornblum Jewish Food Pantry and other JF&CS services already help families in crisis, addressing their immediate day to day needs. The Food Pantry is currently feeding over 1500 individuals every month, of which more than 40% are children! These children are the ones who will receive your contribution of a new, unwrapped toy, book or other gift. They also need school supplies throughout the year.

Jewish Family & Children's Service Hanukkah Hugs toy drive is a special way to let children know that people do care, and miraculously there is enough: enough oil to last for eight days; enough love and concern to go around so that all families can join in the celebration of this wonderful holiday.

Together we can make a difference in the life of a child in our community. Happy Hanukkah!
